Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 09 January 2002.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election of invention I in Paper No. 7 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).
2. Claims 5-15 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 7.

Drawings

3. Figures 7 and 8 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
5. Claims 1-4 and 16-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mausawa et al. United States Patent No. 5,498,999 and Krishnamurthy et al. United States Patent No. 5,653,841.

The Marusawa et al. reference discloses in figure 4 a laminated nonreciprocal circuit device comprising a laminated substrate including magnetic materials 21-26, which are also considered dielectric material, with a plurality of central conductors 29-31, and a capacitor “network” formed by electrodes 36-38 and ground electrode 39 formed on the lower surface of the body at layer 26 (col. 7, lines 50-65). The reference further discloses that a permanent magnet and metal yokes are added but does not show them laminated to the device.

The Krishnamurthy et al. reference discloses an integrated non-reciprocal device in figure 4 with an integrated yoke comprising magnetic thin films 214 and 239 (see col. 8, lines 58-65) and magnet 216. The design of the integrated yoke and permanent magnet advantageously allows insertion into a high density structure (abstract).

Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have integrated the yoke and permanent magnet in the non-reciprocal device of Marusawa et al. as taught by Krishnamurthy et al. because such a modification would have advantageously allowed insertion into a high density interconnect structure.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Marusawa et al. JP 09-294006 discloses a multilayer isolator.
